

Tradition: Silver Taps (music)

Creator: Col. Richard Dunn

Date the tradition was established: 1929

Time of year the tradition occurs: First Tuesday of every month

Explanation: Current Texas A&M students who pass away are honored at the monthly Silver Taps ceremony, where the Silver Taps song is played by 6 buglers. It is played 3 times, once to the north, once to the south, and once to the west, but not to the east, as it is said the sun will never rise on that Aggie again.

New Texas A&M Tradition: Fish Walk

Time of year the tradition will occur: Event at the beginning of the year

Simple explanation of the new Texas A&M Tradition: A&M Fish meet at aggie park and take a walk around campus together. This will be a chance for them to meet new people, learn the campus, and get exposed to more traditions. This will be parallel to the elephant walk that they will take when they graduate.
